

Hiring Tom Marcoux as my media and marketing coach was the most Valuable thing I've done in several years. As a STANFORD UNIVERSITY performance consultant, after working with my champion athletes at the OLYMPIC TRAINING CENTER in GREECE, I wanted to take my "Your Performing Edge" business to the next level. Working with Tom was well worth the investment; I noticed immediate results in improved marketing, better clients, and increased income, and he taught me a process to use long-term. It would have literally taken years to develop this on my own through research and experience.
