The Testimonials

"I was apprehensive about using Explosive Minds - humour is a very cultural thing. Having visited their website I knew their brand of humour worked in Australia but would it work in Singapore? With a culturally diverse audience I was mentally half-prepared for the gamble to backfire. Explosive Minds showed me that the right kind of humour can be a very universal thing. In a magical evening that is still talked about, the team gave us a very special gift. We learnt about ourselves, about each other and about how to work better together. At a time when we were all low on energy from too many late nights and feeling the pressure of business targets, an evening with Explosive Minds was just what the doctor ordered! I would happily recommend this team of very intelligent, very talented people to any organisation that wants to get better or simply have a laugh!"
