RE: Chevron's Diversity Council 2010 2nd Quarter presentation:
Kate Adamson – "Paralyzed, but not Powerless"

Dear Kate:

First I would like to extend a heartfelt thank you for your keynote speech in Anchorage, Alaska to our Chevron employees, contractors and family members this past week. I have received nothing but positive and enthusiastic feedback from all the attendees.

The emotional bond you built with our participants will forever be in their hearts. The way you delivered your inspirational message took away all possible excuses and motivated us all to take our business and lives to the next level. Not only did you help us meet our responsibilities regarding diversity issues but you also left our group feeling focused and motivated to do their best for themselves and our company. Your message was clear, concise and inspirational!

It is so refreshing to attend a presentation that was not delivered as a sterile lecture, the way you involved and interacted with the audience was great and we all had fun especially watching you interact with Larry during your famous one handed bra demonstration. I believe this is one presentation that will be talked and laughed about for years!

Speaking for myself and on behalf of Chevron and the Diversity Council, we would certainly not hesitate to recommend you to other companies. We also want to thank you for allowing us to show your video at other Chevron sites that allows for a much larger audience within our company and is greatly appreciated. I look forward to working with you again in the near future. Please do stay in touch!

Sincerely,
