Dear Jack:

Once again, thank you for the presentation you gave to our leadership program participants last week. Your management and consulting experiences provided our participants with a unique insight, and your expertise and enthusiasm for e-business strategy, process and technology has been instrumental in making this program a success. I appreciate your professionalism and ability to engage the participants; many spoke highly of the presentation and found it very enlightening.

Best wishes for continued success and please call if you have any additional thoughts or comments on our program.

Sincerely,

Danita Boonchaisri
