Dear Jack:

Thank you again for your outstanding keynote presentation at last week's conference. I heard nothing but positive comments about it from the attendees. They called it "entertaining," "fascinating" and "the perfect kick-off for a conference on disruptive technologies." One attendee – an executive from one of the largest contract electronics manufacturers in North America – wrote on his conference evaluation form that your talk was a "clear, concise presentation of thought-provoking concepts that I can use in my company."

These comments represent the attributes we strive to deliver to our members at every conference. Thank you again for helping to make this conference a success. In fact, several attendees told me it was the best one they'd ever attended.

Best regards,
